Doyle Administration Awards $135,000 to Fox Valley Technical College Child Care Center

Builds on Governor's Initiative to Make Child Care Tax Deductible

Appleton – Lieutenant Governor Barbara Lawton announced today that the Department of Workforce Development (DWD) is awarding $135,547 in Community Child Care Initiative grants to Fox Valley Technical College as part of Governor Jim Doyle's KidsFirst Initiative.

"The quality of care and learning opportunities that our kids receive at an early age is directly related to their development and ability to do well in school," Lieutenant Governor Lawton said in announcing the grant at the FVTC Parent/Child Care Center. "This investment in our children and families through stronger child care programs will last a lifetime."

This grant will help provide substitute child care providers, inclusion services, quality improvement, health services, training on business practices, and recruitment of new child care providers for the FVTC Parent/Child Care Center. Additionally, it will help enhance child care resource and referral for the Fox Valley region.

In 2006, DWD will award a total of $2.5 million statewide in Community Child Care Initiative grants to counties, tribes, municipalities, public school districts, and Wisconsin Technical College districts. The grants will be used to improve the quality, supply and accessibility of child care throughout Wisconsin. Recipients must match the grant funds which may be towards a variety of activities to improve child care quality, such as:

- Helping parents make informed choices about selecting child care;
- Educating the general public;
- Increasing opportunities for children with disabilities in child care settings;
- Local collaborative planning to improve early child care and education services;
- Develop a community plan for meeting child care needs related to four-year-old kindergarten for working families; or
- Offering child care for children documented to be receiving or in need of protective services.

"We are committed to the children and families in our state – from promoting and improving early childhood education, to giving our parents a tax break on paying for child care," said Secretary Roberta Gassman, Department of Workforce Development.

Governor Doyle has proposed a new tax deduction that will allow parents to deduct up to $3,000 for child care expenses for one child, and up to $6,000 for two or more children. This new tax benefit will save nearly $400 for a family with two children in child care. According to the National Association of Child Care Research and Referrals Agency, there are 253,335 children in Wisconsin under the age of six that have either both parents working or are from a single parent household where the parent works.
